

Accessible Workplace Environments: 'Identifying Barriers to Access'

Equip your team with practical skills to create inclusive work environments where everyone can thrive.

Empower your Workplace Accessibility Champions and/or Health and Safety professionals with the essential skills and knowledge to conduct thorough audits of your work environments for access barriers.

In this workshop, we will cover best practices for addressing common barriers and meeting the diverse physical access needs of individuals, including:

- Wheelchair users or individuals with mobility issues
- Blind or Low Vision individuals
- Deaf or hard of hearing individuals
- Neurodivergent individuals
- Individuals with intellectual and cognitive impairments

About the facilitator

Stew Sexton is the owner of AbilityDis Consulting. As a leading accessibility awareness consultant and first-hand experience as an employee, Stew brings valuable insights into the real-world challenges that hinder accessibility in companies and organisations. Join our training sessions to benefit from Stew's expertise and empower your team to create inclusive and accessible environments.

